

Hi Julia

Tony paid for the Factory Sample entirely with his own money and Unknown Pleasures mostly although, technically, Joy Division had made a small profit from their contribution to the Sample which was re-invested. In actual fact that was neither here nor there. Technically, as I was married to Tony at the time, I also paid for the tapes but this fact is always overlooked!

Tony was a poor businessman and once told me that Rob Gretton "stitched him up".

I would have thought that, in your case, possession is 9 points of the law but there is always that other point!

Good luck.

Best wishes

Lindsay
